

5 Best Online Printing Services for Businesses in 2026

Description

You might not use online print services every day, but when you do, maybe for business cards, folders, catalogs, or branded merch, you don't want it to come out looking like it was run off a dusty printer in a back room. You want something dependable.

And you're not the only one. Lots and lots of businesses are increasingly turning to online printing services whenever they want material printed. In 2024 alone, businesses in the US spent more than $20 billion online on promotional products and printed marketing materials. We don't see that trend slowing in 2026.

The question now is, of the hundreds of options online, how do you know which one to choose for your business?

That's what this guide is here for.

Below are five of the best online printing services worth considering in 2026, across different business needs.

Company Folders: Best Specialized Folder Printer

Company Folders, Inc. is a niche online printer that does one thing extremely well. It helps businesses create professional presentation folders, report covers, and other marketing materials that distinctly reflect their brand.

If you have ever ordered custom folders online and felt disappointed with what you got, you will understand the gap they're trying to fill.

Company Folders is known for its hyper focus on detail, finish, and brand impact. Plus, you get access to real designers who review your artwork, flag issues, and suggest improvements. That alone saves time and frustration. In addition to their lifetime warranty and satisfaction guarantee, this standout feature helps them outperform other printers. No wonder the company currently boasts an impressive 4.8 rating on Yelp and 5.0 rating on Google, backed by more than 200 reviews.

What They Offer

- Custom presentation folders with over 200 style options
- Premium paper stocks and professional coatings
- Foil stamping, embossing, and custom die-cuts
- Binders, kits, and branded packaging
- In-house design support
- Free samples

If you want presentation materials that represent your business well, check out Company Folders, Inc.

VistaPrint: Best All-Rounder for Small Businesses

Formerly known as Bonne Impression, VistaPrint has been in business since 1995. It's basically one of the earliest, if not first, businesses to offer desktop publishing over the internet. Since then, it has grown to become a familiar name for businesses that want professional-looking print and branding without turning it into a full-time project.

VistaPrint boasts a very intuitive process. You don't need a design background, and the tools generally guide you rather than get in your way. That said, don't expect the template library to vary enough to keep your materials from feeling a little generic.

It's also an all-in-one setup. Print, basic design, and even digital branding tools live under one roof. That consistency saves time and avoids mismatched branding down the line. Just keep in mind that VistaPrint largely prints what you upload or approve, so they're not functioning as a prepress team catching every typo, bleed issue, or low-resolution image. You'll need to check your artwork and proof carefully before you place the order to avoid costly reprints.

What They Offer

- Business cards and stationery
- Flyers, brochures, and postcards
- Logo design, banners, posters, and signage
- Branded apparel and promotional items

If you want reliable printing and don't need the best quality, VistaPrint fits the bill.

Printful: Best for Print-on-Demand

Printful has carved out a unique niche in the online printing services industry. Unlike other printing services that focus on business marketing materials, Printful flips the script and targets businesses looking to create and sell custom products without the hassle of inventory.

You get to design your own product and have it produced and shipped only when someone orders. No need to stock inventory. No need to invest in expensive equipment.

More importantly, no one will know you're not the one doing the heavy lifting because Printful gives you the tools to make every item feel like it's yours, from custom labels to packaging inserts.

What They Offer

- Print and produce apparel, home goods, accessories, and tech products
- Multiple decoration methods
- Custom branding: labels, packaging inserts, and logo integration
- User-friendly design tools
- e-commerce integrations
- No minimum order requirements

Printful makes it easy to turn your creative ideas into high-quality, branded products. And with approximately 228,000 print-on-demand stores worldwide, it's obviously a successful operation.

Printing Center USA: Best for Catalogs and Booklets

If you're printing professional catalogs, booklets, magazines, or similar multi-page materials, Printing Center USA is one of the most reliable online choices out there. They've been providing online printing services to individuals and businesses for decades and have built a reputation for quality work.

The standout thing about Printing Center USA is that they go beyond just the printing services. They also do direct mailing services. This means you can have catalogs or booklets printed and mailed directly to your customer list. That can save time and shipping costs.

What They Offer

- Books, booklets, catalogs, magazines, calendars, brochures, and flyers
- Multiple binding choices
- Full-color digital and offset printing
- Direct mailing system
- Quick turnaround and straightforward online ordering

If you want a trusted partner for multi-page print jobs that's ready to impress, then you may want to check out the options at Printing Center USA.

48HourPrint: Best for Designers Needing Fast Turnaround

Have a printing project with a looming deadline and no time to waste? 48HourPrint might be just what you need. Founded in 2000, this online printing service has quickly earned a reputation among people who need professional prints in a hurry.

It's important to note that the 48-hour promise depends on what you order and when you place your order. Some jobs can be ready in 48 hours, but larger or specialty products might take a bit longer.

What They Offer

- Business cards, flyers, brochures, and postcards, you can customize
- Large-format banners and signage
- Specialty marketing materials
- Simple, free design tools and templates that help if you're not a pro
- Fast production and turnaround

48HourPrint is worth a look if speed and simplicity matter to you or if you have a project that has to be delivered within a short timeframe.

Which Is Best For Your Business?

There you have it. 5 of the best online printing services for businesses in 2026. Each of the commercial printers covered in this guide provides services that span virtually every aspect of printing you might need in your business.

So, which one should you choose for your printing needs in 2026? It depends on what product you need and exactly what you're looking to achieve.

For example, if you need presentation folders, report covers, card holders, and so on, then Company Folders, Inc. is the best choice for you. Want printed materials that you can access in 48 hours or less? Then you may want to try 48Hour Print.

FAQs

Is online printing better than a local shop?

It depends. Local shops are great for personal relationships, but the best online printing services usually have better technology and lower prices because they operate at scale. What's more? Online shops offer more selection than you might get at local shops.

Can I see samples before ordering large quantities?

Absolutely. Most services offer sample kits, in some cases, as PDF proofs. Some brands can provide physical proof for an additional fee. These are the types of services you should work with. Never commit to large orders without seeing samples first.

What are the limitations of online printing?

Online printing is a convenient way to get printed materials, but it often struggles with issues like color matching and limited materials. Take color matching, for example. Many online printers use CMYK and don't offer PMS spot colors, making it challenging to match specific colors or achieve exact brand color consistency.
